A Checklist

> for Planning Accessible Conferences

Please use this checklist to track your progress on your way to an accessible conference. If your event is truly inclusive, you should be able to answer "yes" to most of these questions.

For more information on planning an inclusive and accessible event, please reference 'A Planning Guide for Accessible Conferences'.

This checklist was based on the one provided by the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services, Planning an Accessible Meeting: A Checklist (see resources section in this document). However, some modifications have been made.

One way to begin planning interpreter services or other accessibility services, such as intervenors and captionists, is to get in touch with the Canadian Hearing Society (website address is http://www.chs.ca) or the Association of Visual Language Interpreters of Canada (website address is http://www.avlic.ca). They can direct you to local service providers.

The Canadian Deafblind and Rubella Association (CDRA) can put you in touch with intervenors; it has local chapters throughout the country. Their website address is http://www.cdbanational.com/en/indexe.html

Your local university's accessibility office or office for students with disabilities will also be able to assist you with finding interpreters or other accessibility services.
