Minimum of two (2) years

Minimum of three (3) years

Minimum of five (5) years

Minimum of eight (8) years

Career Consulting, Job Development, Relevant Marketing, Recruitment and Selection, relevant volunteer experience. Experience working independently in a front line customer service, team environment prioritizing, organizing and problem solving own work. Experience working with a variety of software packages i.e. word processing, email, internet and social media. Experience working with a variety of clients with varied needs.

3. Analysis and Problem Solving

This section relates to the application of analysis and judgment within the scope of the position.

The following charts help to define the level of complexity involved in the analysis or identification of situations, information or problems, the steps taken to develop options, solutions or other actions and the judgment required to do so.

Please provide up to three (3) examples of analysis and problem solving that are regular and recurring and, if present in the position, up to two (2) examples that occur occasionally.

	#1 regular & recurring
Key issue or problem encountered.	Client demonstrates repeatedly the inability to maintain a job
How is it identified?	Job is terminated by more than one employer
Is further investigation required to define the situation and/or problem? If so, describe.	Information is gathered in order to understand the nature of the problem and be in a position to assist the client in becoming more self aware. May discover mental health issues, physical problems, social ineptness, behavioural disorders, learning disabilities, a severe lack of motivation, family disruptions, criminal history, lack of adequate resources such as housing, clothing, transportation.
Explain the analysis used to determine a solution(s) for the situation and/or problem.	The incumbent has acquired knowledge, skills, awareness and experience which enable him or her to determine the appropriate solution. The incumbent will review all pertinent and applicable information with the client in an effort to identify potential educational and employment problems and in identifying and setting up the steps leading towards fulfillment of the client's career and employment plan.
What sources are available to assist the incumbent finding solution(s)? (eg. past practice, established standards or guidelines.)	Employment Ontario Guidelines and support documentation; college policies and procedures, past practices and experience in working with clients, Employment Ontario Resource Manual etc) as well as human rights legislation.

3. Analysis and Problem Solving

#2 regular & recurring

Key issue or problem encountered.	The incumbent must analyze and mediate the resolution of problems between the client and the employer when contract commitments, program guidelines, safety regulations etc., are not adhered to.
How is it identified?	The issue is usually identified by a complaint from the client on placement, the employer or is discovered by the incumbent on a monitoring visit to the work site.
Is further investigation required to define the situation and/or problem? If so, describe.	The incumbent must determine the nature of the problem in order to develop an appropriate response.
Explain the analysis used to determine a solution(s) for the situation and/or problem.	The incumbent reviews the history of the client's placement with the employer, interviews the client, the client's supervisor, and others if necessary, in order to develop an accurate understanding of the situation, the severity of the problem, and development of an appropriate resolution and ultimately benefits the interests of the client.
What sources are available to assist the incumbent finding solution(s)? (eg. past practice, established standards or guidelines.)	Various provincial and federal labour legislation, Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities (MTCU) Guidelines, past practices in dealing with employer misunderstanding or abuse of the program.

#3 regular & recurring

Key issue or problem encountered.	Employer wants full subsidy for a client who only requires a short term training plan.
How is it identified?	Employer states that other agencies provide more money or that past clients have received a higher subsidy.
Is further investigation required to define the situation and/or problem? If so, describe.	Research on the history of training subsidies to this employer could be accessed. The incumbent could question the employer regarding the specifics of the client's duties to ensure that the subsidy allocated fits the training and responsibility of the position as well as the skill level of the client.
Explain the analysis used to determine a solution(s) for the situation and/or problem.	Incumbent will consider facts the employer has provided and match/gap of the skills/abilities of client and the employment duties and responsibilities. He/She will determine whether a subsidy adjustment is warranted.
What sources are available to assist the incumbent finding solution(s)? (eg. past practice, established standards or guidelines.)	Employment Ontario policies and guidelines regarding amount of subsidy based on training requirements. Past practices and knowledge of employer and types of placements and potential growth/benefit for the client will also guide the incumbent.

3. Analysis and Problem Solving

Key issue or problem encountered.	#1 occasional (if none, please strike out this section) Client does not get paid by employer.
How is it identified?	Client would advise.
Is further investigation required to define the situation and/or problem? If so, describe.	Further investigation is required. The incumbent will need to review our records to determine what was approved, what we paid the employer, what the contract covers and whether this occurred while on the program.
Explain the analysis used to determine a solution(s) for the situation and/or problem.	The incumbent would identify potential ways to handle the problem based on knowledge of the client and timing of the payroll issue. If we paid the employer to cover specific hours and the client didn't actually get paid, we might have a case of fraud; if after all information is gathered and the legal department of the college has been approached for advice, we might need to refer to Ministry of Labour for investigation.
What sources are available to assist the incumbent finding solution(s)? (eg. past practice, established standards or guidelines.)	Employment Consultant would initially try to resolve the problem. Incumbent would advise client of Ministry of Labour regulations. Manager would provide guidance as required.

Key issue or problem encountered.	#2 occasional (if none, please strike out this section) Incumbent meets with a client to monitor placement and client advises that employer is sexually harassing.
How is it identified?	Usually by conversation with the client and brought forward by the client.
Is further investigation required to define the situation and/or problem? If so, describe.	Yes, detailed conversation with the client and as the situation progresses with the employer as well.
Explain the analysis used to determine a solution(s) for the situation and/or problem.	Incumbent will often be on own when this type of situation occurs. May deal with the situation then and there or may need to time to reflect on information dependent on what client wishes to do. Detailed notes must be taken as future dealings with this employer will be dependent on the outcome.
What sources are available to assist the incumbent finding solution(s)? (eg. past practice, established standards or guidelines.)	Again, if urgent, incumbent must use common sense, detailed probing and determine wants and needs of client as well as provide information about options. These types of situations are unique and not necessarily a one size fits all approach. Dependent on urgency of situation, may request advice from Leader, Manager, HOD, or Ministry of Labour.

4. Planning/Coordinating

Planning is a proactive activity as the incumbent must develop in advance a method of acting or proceeding, while coordinating can be more reactive in nature.

In the following charts, provide up to three (3) examples of planning and/or coordinating that are regular and recurring to the position, up to two (2) examples that occur occasionally:

#1 regular and recurring
List the project and the role of the incumbent in this activity.	There is an employment action plan that is developed by the Employment and Training Counsellor and client based on the client's needs identification and skill level. The Employment and Training Counsellor then creates a specific employment search action plan in conjunction with the client.
What are the organizational and/or project management skills needed to bring together and integrate this activity?	Must be able to provide direction, guidance and yet not force client to do something he/she is not capable of or interested in doing. Communication and skills analysis are key.
List the types of resources required to complete this task, project or activity.	Clients resumes, labour market info, phone book, internet, computer, action plan form, past relationship with employers.
How is/are deadline(s) determined?	There are not firm deadlines because client services are dependent on need; but an action plan should be at least initiated during the first client visit in most cases will be complete by that time.
Who determines if changes to the project or activity are required? Who determines whether these changes have an impact on others? Please provide concrete examples.	The Employment and Training Counsellor and/or the client may initiate such changes. Changes to the plan would really only impact the client. For example if the client decided after researching a field that it was not what he/she wanted to do, they would advise the Employment and Training Counsellor who would change focus on what he/she was looking for out in the community.

4. Planning/Coordinating

List the project and the role of the incumbent in this activity.

What are the organizational and/or project management skills needed to bring together and integrate this activity?

#2 regular and recurring

Documentation and monitoring of placement.

Time management and follow through

Calendar, computer, monitoring forms

Deadlines set within program guidelines. Documents must be signed in order for client to start his/her placement; monitor call should be completed; monitoring to be scheduled prior to the end of the placement.

Client, employer or Employment and Training Consultant. If the client is placed with an employer as a result of the action plan and problems occur, the plan may need to be revised which might impact the actual Employment and Training Consultant who recommended the client and will need to discuss with the client and the employer who may or may not wish to continue; and, the Employment and Training Consultant who may have to facilitate a resolution to the problem.

#3 regular and recurring

List the project and the role of the incumbent in this activity.

What are the organizational and/or project management skills needed to bring together and integrate this activity?

Deadlines are determined on a monthly basis. Workshops are predetermined as to assess upcoming

Who determines if changes to the project or activity are required? Who determines whether these changes have an impact on others? Please provide concrete examples.

employment seasons i.e. summer versus winter, client requests, ongoing training. Job fairs deadlines are determined based on employer hiring seasons, new contracts for employees and access to certain job markets

Changes to the project or activity are determined by manager, Employment and Training Consultants and Operations and Training Coordinator. At times, workshops are not required on an ongoing basis or there are no participants. Team would determine what recent changes have occurred for lower numbers or why some workshops are not as popular as others. The team would assess ways to increase awareness of workshops and perhaps create new ones to appeal to our clients. Job fairs are determined by the employment team and are assessed on a case by case basis. Job fairs are created to service our clients and therefore are brought in by demand and by employer requests. Team would assess past success, interest and adequate space.

Success of the project will be measured by the partner agencies based on their goals, Continuation of the project will be determined through discussion with the manager.

5. Guiding/Advising Others

This section describes the assigned responsibility of the position to guide or advise others (e.g. other employees, students). Focus the actions taken (rather than the communication skills) that directly assist others in the performance of their work skill development.

Though support staff cannot formally “supervise “others, there may be a requirement to guide others using the incumbent’s job expertise. This is beyond being helpful and providing ad hoc advice. It must be an assigned responsibility and must assist or enable others to be able to complete their own tasks. Check the box(es) that best describe the level of responsibility assigned to the position and provide an example(s) to support the selection, including the positions that the incumbent guides or advises.

Regular & Recurring	Occasional	Level	Example

7. Service Delivery

This section looks at the service relationship that is an assigned requirement of the position. It considers the required manner in which a position delivers service to customers. It is not intended to examine the incumbent's interpersonal relationship with those customers and the normal anticipation of what customers want and then supplying it efficiently. It considers how the request for service is received and the degree to which the position is required to design and fulfill the service requirement. A "customer" is defined in the broadest sense as a person or groups of people and can be internal or external to the College.

In the table below, list the key service(s) and its associated customers. Describe how the request for service is received by the incumbent, how the service is carried out and the frequency.

Information on the service		Customer	Frequency (D,W,M,I)*
How is it received?	How is it carried out?
The incumbent receives requests for career and employment services from the public/potential clients.	Consultant explains how job support is conducted and provides ideas to ensure success. Ongoing customer care is maintained to ensure client contact is not lost. Follow-up with client every 3 months to ensure success and support. Individuals are assessed to see if they match Employment Ontario criteria. The incumbent then assess the individuals' situation/qualifications and determines appropriate action – referral to outside service? Suitable job readily available? Support job search?	Clients	D
Employers contact the incumbent to discuss their hiring needs.	If they are new to the service, the consultant listens to their requests and determines how we can help. If they are an ongoing customer the designated consultant will assess their request.	Employer	D
MTCU requires follow up on clients.	Employment and Training Counsellor will request follow up on client to determine success of clients after placement and file being closed.	MTCU	M
Resolve Employer/client conflicts	Listen, suggest solutions, alternatives and options.	Employer/Client	W
Request for the delivery of Workshops	Customize workshop materials to meet needs of a particular client	Clients	M

* D = Daily    W = Weekly    M = monthly    I = Infrequently

8. Communication

In the table below indicate the type of communication skills required to deal effectively with others. Be sure to list both verbal (e.g. exchanging information, formal presentations) and written (e.g. initiate memos, reports, proposals) in the section (s) that best describes the method of communication.

Communication Skill/Method	Example	Audience	Frequency (D,W,M,I)*
Exchanging routine information, extending common courtesy	Program overview with clients, employers, community partners	Employers, Consultants, clients, agencies	D
